Russ, Carl,

Below is Sean's brief to P3 partners on Intersect activation call in the morning (8am). This is not a true Intersect activation call like we normally would have but given the short timelines and the vast amount of misinformation out there combined with a great deal of inquiries from Intersect partners, this is a chance to give verified information that is able to be shared with this audience.

In addition to Sean's brief, I would follow up with a quick explanation of the PLT role and provide an email for significant public safety concerns/impacts to forward to PLT for possible mitigation. (IE Bruyere gets their patients food trucked in 3 times a day from an off site location, we will have to address that).

It is PLT specific address. This would mean a very short one way call with the opportunity for them to submit their respective issues.

The monthly INTERSECT call with trusted partners is the next day and I am suggesting we extend that meeting a little more and have more dialogue at the end of that meeting (CONVOY specific) with those key agencies. This would be a format where concerns can be explored a little deeper and we would also have more confirmed info by then.

Please advise of any concerns/ thoughts.

Thoughts with this???

The purpose of this briefing is to update you on a Trucker convoy scheduled to arrive in Ottawa from across Canada beginning Friday, January 28th. This will be a significant and extremely fluid event as it is difficult to confirm final numbers due to participants joining and exiting the convoy as it crosses the country. This event that could go on for a prolonged period.

We are working with our City and policing partners to help manage what we anticipate to be significant traffic disruptions and delays in Ottawa throughout this coming weekend.

We know residents are concerned about emergency vehicles being delayed or stuck in traffic disruptions. We are doing our best to have organizers agree to keep a lane of traffic open. Our priorities are to maintain the safety of members of our community and participants in the demonstration and to ensure that emergency routes remain open for Police, Fire, Ambulance as well as other essential services as well as minimize traffic disruptions.

Our Special Events section is in contact with the organizers of the event to establish dialogue and encourage open communication. We expect this to be a peaceful demonstration as they have been in other cities thus far. Police Liaison Officers will be the demonstrator's first point of contact on the ground.

Although it is still unknown how many trucks or people will participate in the demonstration and how long they plan to stay, we will deploy appropriate police resources to mitigate any safety risks. We are also working on staffing plans to minimize the impact on police calls for service across Ottawa unrelated to the convoy.

You will be kept informed on city-wide traffic and transit plans as they develop.

Ottawa residents will be kept informed via strategic and integrated communications plans with input from all impacted organizations.

As you know, the Ottawa Police Service manages public safety-related issues at hundreds of demonstrations every year. We work with organizers to preserve the peace and minimize impacts for residents and businesses while protecting the right to demonstrate.

Police have a sworn duty to maintain public order and preserve the peace. The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms guarantees certain rights and fundamental freedoms, including opinion, expression and peaceful assembly.

As with any significant event, we encourage everyone to follow verified sources of information on social media.
